

*“Advice and counsel that is concise, timely,
on-point and cost-effective.”*

Ted Banks Featured in Society of Corporate Compliance & Ethics Podcast

Partner Ted Banks was interviewed by Adam Turteltaub, Vice President of the Society of Corporate Compliance & Ethics. SCCE helps its membership of over 5,800 Compliance Officers and staff protect their companies and meet regulatory requirements through education, training and certification. In its “Compliance Perspectives” podcast, Mr. Banks discussed some of the key considerations professionals should be aware of as they move from a legal role to a compliance role.

Mr. Banks discussed the difference between delivering effective compliance communications and teaching “the law” (which many lawyers mistakenly try to do as compliance). He advised compliance professionals learn psychological principles of effective employee communications and focus on the key things that an employee needs to know to do his or her job. Mr. Banks covered lessons learned and career strategies for success in moving into the compliance role. The entire podcast can be found at:

<http://complianceandethics.org/ted-banks-on-moving-from-a-legal-role-into-compliance-podcast/>